90 Persons Sign For Local Service As Plane Spotters

Second Registration Day Scheduled; Loyalty Checks Ordered by Clay

Local area civilian defense and aircraft warning service teams are whipping into shape at a fast pace. Latest developments are these:

A call for volunteer aircraft spotters brought out 90 persons for registration at the city hall last night. A second registration day has been scheduled for Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel, 6 to 8:30 p. m.

Howard Shurtler, county civil defense chief, and Sherwood E. Davis, city director, have received instructions from General Lucius D. Clay, state defense chairman, directing that all civilian defense personnel be checked for loyalty.

A meeting of the county advisory defense council has been called for 8 o'clock tonight by Director Shurtler. It will be held at the county court house.

Major Theodore Lee, head of the local Organized Air Reserve squadron, has offered to conduct regular classes in aircraft identification. Trained personnel of the Air Force Reserve will be the instructors.

Mrs. George Dewey Logan, supervisor of the local Army Observation Post, Ground Observers Corps, announced last night the appointment of Raymond McAndrew, former city clerk, as an assistant chief observer. McAndrew, with Morris Cooper, also an assistant chief observer, will have full charge of the night shift.

Assisting in signing spotters at last night's meeting were Mrs. Thomas Bashell, chief observer, Mrs. Dorothea Blum, Mrs. Dorothea Flemming, Mrs. Hilda Krone, Mrs. Marion Jensen, Mrs. Barbara Matthews, Mrs. Cora Erickson and Miss Philomena Gehring.

Needs 250 Spotters
Mrs. Logan, although "well pleased" with the response to last night's call for volunteers, stated today that at least 250 observers will be needed, if the local post is alerted for 24-hour continuous service. This will allow for possibilities of illness and the calling of some spotters into the armed forces.

Another registration of volunteer spotters will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday, August 17, between 6 and 8:30 p. m. Any one wishing to volunteer who is unable to appear at that time may contact Mrs. Logan and arrange to register at a convenient time.

City and county defense director have received a letter from Gen. Clay outlining procedure for checking on the loyalty of all civilian personnel in the state who (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Motorists Warned To Watch Batteries

The sheriff's office and state police have been besieged with reports of automobile batteries stolen in the Kingston area.

Most recent reports have been received from Port Ewen, Eddyville and along Route 28. Used car lots have been the scene of most of the losses, Sheriff George C. Smith revealed.

According to reports, the battery thieves work at night, taking the batteries out of used automobiles.

Foreign Policy Battle Shapes Up

Both Parties Blame Each Other for Korean War Situation

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—A slam-bang battle over foreign policy shaped up today in the congressional campaign with Democrats and Republicans blaming each other for the Korean war.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the G.O.P. floor leader, took the floor today to accuse Democrats of trying to "whitewash the Truman administration's blunders that paved the way for war in South Korea."

Senator McMahon, Democratic senator running for re-election in Connecticut, charged Wherry and a majority of the Senate Republicans with having "fought almost every administration effort to keep Europe out of the hands of the communists."

After a shouting word battle over the issue in the Senate yesterday, both sides agreed today that the people are going to hear a lot about foreign policy and the men who make them before the November voting.

Democrats leveled fresh attacks on a statement by four Republican members of the foreign relations committee.

Council Bigwigs Study Indian Peace Proposal

Lake Success, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Security Council's big battlers today studied an Indian proposal to let the small nations seek a path to peace in the Korean war.

As the council recessed until Thursday afternoon, Indian delegate Sir Benegal N. Rau suggested that the six elected, non-permanent members might be better able to find a solution in public and private meetings at which cold warring Russian and American delegates were not present.

Expect No Solution on US Controls

Senator Ives Declares GOP Parley Probably Will Not Affect Any Opinions Propose Changes

Senate Prepares to Vote on Amendments to Administration Bill

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senate Republicans, divided over how far to go in mobilization of the home front, called a conference today to discuss the issue.

In advance of the closed meeting Senator Ives (R-N.Y.) told a reporter the session probably would change few opinions and come nowhere near achieving G.O.P. unanimity. Any recommendations by a majority in the party now would not bind the minority.

The Republicans arranged their huddle as the Senate itself headed for another round of voting on proposed amendments to an administration-blessed economic controls bill which prompted the meeting of G.O.P. senators.

The bill, similar to one already approved by the House, would give President Truman an almost free hand to invoke wage-price rationing controls whenever he saw fit. It also would authorize credit controls, allocation of scarce industrial materials, and other production controls.

The Senate approved by voice vote late yesterday an amendment which would guarantee the meat packing industry a "reasonable margin of profit" if Mr. Truman decided to put ceilings on meat.

To Prevent Shortages
Senator Maybank (D-S.C.), sponsor of the amendment, said its "one and only purpose" is to prevent a revival of World War 2 meat shortages and black markets.

What effect the provision would have on any retail meat price ceilings could not be forecast with any accuracy.

The amendment is almost identical to one which Congress wrote into the O.P.A. law in 1945. Maybank told newsmen it didn't wipe out shortages and black markets then because "it never had a fair test—controls on meat were removed in 1946 before the amendment had a chance to work."

At today's Republican conference one group of G.O.P. senators was headed by Ives and another by Senator East of Ohio.

The Ives group is backing the essential provisions of the pending economic controls bill. The Taft group wants to narrow the powers the measure would confer on Mr. Truman.

Blast Area Jittery As Train Is Stalled

Perth Amboy, N. J., Aug. 15 (AP)—A 21-car freight train plastered with signs reading "high explosives" was stalled in the station for two and a half hours in blast-conscious Perth Amboy yesterday.

The train parked in the center of this 50,000-population city, set off a series of jittery calls to police headquarters. Police said the residents wanted the train moved quickly.

Perth Amboy is just across the bay from South Amboy where 31 persons died and hundreds were injured last May. The blast littered this city with debris.

A trainman said the trouble was broken rail farther along the line.

ToNameO'Dwyer To Be Sent to Mexico

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—The White House announced today that President Truman will nominate Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York city as ambassador to Mexico.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the nomination will be sent to the Senate about September 1.

Ross said O'Dwyer would resign as mayor of New York about that time. The resignation will mean a majority election campaign in New York this fall.

Bishop Withdraws Order Forbidding Special Services

Thousands Converge Upon Wisconsin Village; Woman Awaits 7th Visitation

Necedah, Wis., Aug. 15 (AP)—Roman Catholic Bishop John Tracy early today canceled his order forbidding special religious services at the parish of the woman who claims she will be visited by the Virgin Mary at noon.

Earlier the bishop of La Crosse had banned anything more than the two regular Masses at St. Francis Church in Necedah. Today is the Feast of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary, a holy day requiring attendance at Mass by Catholics. The bishop's order had meant many of the thousands streaming into the village might have been unable to attend regular services.

With the command rescinded, visiting priests started saying Mass at 4 a. m. in St. Francis Church and in the parish hall. They continued on the half-hour each time before as many people as could squeeze into the small white frame church and the recreation hall.

Mother of Seven
Meanwhile, the gaunt, prematurely aged mother of seven children waited for what she maintains will be her seventh visit from the Virgin.

She is Mrs. Mary Anna Van Hoof, 41-year-old farm wife who is convinced the Mother of Jesus will come to her today—as she intends she has come on six previous occasions.

Thousands of people are here. There is no way actually to estimate their number. Some believe with Mrs. Van Hoof that the apparition of the Blessed Virgin Mary will take place at noon today. Others are merely curious, while others frankly scoff at her claims but are present anyway.

Highways Jammed
The visitors jammed every available highway leading into this little town of 1,000 on the Yellow river through yesterday and last night, despite admonitions from the Catholic hierarchy to members of their faith to stay away.

Bishop John Tracy of the La Crosse Diocese, of which Mrs. Van Hoof's church is a parish, issued a pronouncement last week forbidding church-sponsored religious exercises at the farm. He warned that attendance of priests, nuns and Catholics "may bring dishonor to the traditional devotion of the Mother of God."

To this Mrs. Van Hoof replied, "I must go ahead with it or else our Blessed Mother will punish me."

A shrine has been erected of rough planks in front of the black and white tar-papered home of the Van Hoofs. On it stands a white statue of Our Lady of Fatima, a gift of a Milwaukee religious organization. It is banked with flowers brought by neighbors.

German Youth Gets 14 Years for Spying

Ansbach, Germany, Aug. 15 (AP)—A U. S. High Commission Court today sentenced an east German youth to 14 years imprisonment for spying for Russia.

Kurt Muecke, 21, confessed to the court that he had tried to collect military information in the American zone of Germany. He said he had been working in the service of a Soviet intelligence major.

Three Are Arrested
Three drivers were arrested by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., on O'Neill street between 6:40 and 8 p. m. yesterday for violations of the city stop-sign ordinance. All, who were slated to appear before Special City Judge Harry Gold today, forfeited bail.

Jets and Bombers Hit North Korean Communications

'Excellent Results' Told by Fliers; Rail Yard, Warehouse, Bridges Are Struck

Tokyo, Aug. 15 (AP)—American jet fighters and light bombers hammered North Korean communication lines and supply dumps along the battlefield today with reported "excellent results."

F-80 Shooting Star jets struck the rail yard in the Waegwan area and warehouse north of Yongdok. B-26 light bombers plastered bridges in the Chonju and Yongju areas.

Meanwhile the U. S. Far East Air Forces wrote off the huge Wonsan oil refinery in North Korea as a major strategic target for B-29 bombers.

Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, F.E.A.F. commander, said photographs showed the east coast refinery was "almost completely destroyed" and "completely inoperative."

Dr. Weber Resigns And Will Retire TB Hospital Director Will Quit Middle of September

Dr. George W. Weber has resigned as director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital to return to the United States Public Health Service.

The resignation, to become effective September 18, was accepted "with deep regret" by the board of health at a meeting Monday night. No successor was named.

In his letter of resignation, Dr. Weber said he would take advantage of a law passed by the New York State Legislature allowing civil service employees to retire at age 55. "I have decided to take advantage of this provision and have applied for my recall to active duty with the U. S. Public Health Service," Dr. Weber wrote.

"I want to take this opportunity for expressing my deep appreciation to all members of the Board of Health for the general cooperation they have always extended to me during the past three and one-half years."

Their constant interest in the operation of the hospital and in the welfare of the patients has contributed in very considerable measure to whatever success has been attained in the tuberculosis control program in the county," he added.

White House Goes On With Efforts Would Avert Nationwide Rail Walkout; Union at 'End of Hope'

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—The White House continued efforts today to avert a possible nationwide railroad strike but union officials said they are near "the end of our rope."

Chiefs of two big unions representing 300,000 trainmen and conductors agreed "reluctantly" to go back for more peace talks with John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman.

W. P. Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and R. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors said they could see nothing accomplished at a four-hour meeting with Steelman last night. They said Steelman, however, was optimistic something could be worked out today.

But, said Kennedy, "unless we make some progress, it looks like we will be at the end of our rope."

Says Progress Made
A spokesman for the railroad told reporters, contrary to what Kennedy had said, that progress was being made in the conference with Steelman. The carrier spokesman also predicted that meetings will continue beyond today, despite union talks of a deadlock.

Kennedy spoke of possible wildcat strikes, contending that the members of the two unions are "all upset over this deal." He said the dispute has gone unsettled now for 17 months and the men are anxious to strike.

The unions are seeking a reduction from the present 48-hour week to a 40-hour week for workers in yard service—without loss in pay. A presidential board recommended the shorter work week but not as much pay as the unions desired.

Also, the unions want wage adjustments for non-yard workers they represent—to give trainmen (Continued on Page 13, Col. 4)

Reds Put 15 Divisions on Korean Front

Tokyo, Aug. 15 (AP)—Fifteen Communist divisions, with a total strength of possibly 150,000 men, have been identified in and around the South Korean front.

For security reasons, the exact number of United Nations forces opposing them cannot be stated.

But so far as is known and can be disclosed, here is the way the opposing units shape up along the front, reading from east to west to south:

Communists Advance to Seven Miles East of River; Gain Cited as Serious

Area Is Lost

Changyong Army Wipes Out Most of Advance by Americans

Tokyo, Wednesday, Aug. 16 (AP)—Red troops with tanks burst out on the Nakdong defense line today below Changyong and surged to points seven miles east of the river.

They overran segments of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division in bitter fighting that piled up casualties on both sides.

General MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo early Wednesday announced his usual morning report would be omitted because there had been no change in the South Korean situation. The headquarters war summaries usually are held behind Red dispatches.

The allied resistance to the Communists had slowed the Red war timetable. North Korean prisoners said the schedule called for capture of Taegu, South Korea's emergency capital, on Tuesday, fifth anniversary of V-J Day and of Korea's liberation from Japan.

Bloody But Indelible
The Changyong fighting was bloody but indelible. Thirty miles northward along the Nakdong river U. S. and Red troops were reported throwing everything at each other but not getting anywhere.

A field dispatch said the Reds surged past 23 miles east of the Nakdong on their deepest penetration in the Changyong sector.

The Red gain was considered serious but an American division staff officer said:

"We are still confident we can push the gooks back across the river but it may take time."

One Red battalion fought desperately to link up with guerrillas behind the Americans.

Gains Are Lost
Frontline reports said the Reds at Changyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu, nibbled out most of the gains made by the hard fighting 24th Division Monday.

Taegu is the south republic's emergency capital and objective of 60,000 Reds poised in the Waegwan sector, 12 miles northwest of Taegu.

Red tanks and armored cars hit hard in the Waegwan area. They availed themselves of a Russian-style submerged suspension bridge to move a regiment, about 3,000 men, and tanks over the river against South Korean defenders. Such bridges are built just below the water's surface to hide them from observation and are capable of supporting armored river crossings.

A U. S. 8th Army communiqué issued at 9:05 p. m. Tuesday (8:05 a. m. E.S.T.) said the South Koreans successfully counter-attacked the river-crossers near Waegwan and found that allied air support presumably had knocked out Red armored cars.

Intelligence officers were unable to learn whether the Waegwan crossing was the beginning of the expected smash by 60,000 Communist troops massed there or whether the Reds were fooling South Korean lines for a week spot.

As the critical river front battle in the center shaped up, gallant U. S. Negro foot soldiers stormed the "Little Cassino" redoubt seven miles northwest of Masan. Masan is a south coast port 27 miles west of Pusan, No. 1 U. S. supply base on the south-east tip of the peninsula.

The fight went into hand-to-hand combat with bayonets and rifle stocks used as clubs. The Negroes, capturing the craggy heights, freed some 200 wounded U. S. artillerymen who had been pinned down by the Communists in last week's westward drive to Chongju by marines and army infantrymen.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

With U. S. Troops in Korea (49)—An American pilot took a look at the way earthbound creatures live in this war. Then he decided maybe he was lucky to be spending his time flying over enemy lines.

The pilot is Lt. Baird King of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. He flies one of those little planes that hover over enemy lines spotting targets for the 25th Infantry Division artillery.

King did the same job in World War II. Sometimes he felt he was having a pretty rough go of it.

But the other day he agreed to fly two correspondents from the front line area back to a coast city where they could send out their stories of the day's fighting.

It was almost dark when King landed his four-seater plane at the strip outside the city. The two reporters suggested King stay at the airstrip where he could get food, a shower and bed.

Their problem was to get into the city and telephone their stories to Tokyo for relay to the United States.

King said hesitantly: "Would you mind if I stayed with you? I'd like to see how reporters work."

It was 8 p. m. and a captain at the strip said there was no transportation available to go into the city—a 40-minute ride over washboard roads.

Then somebody said "a wrecker is putting a wrecked truck out of a ditch down the road. Maybe the driver would give you a lift."

King trudged along with us a half mile down a dusty road to where the big wrecker was working. A corporal said "Sure, we'll take you as soon as we snake this wreck out."

So we stood watching the boys work while swarms of mosquitoes and night-flying insects concentrated on King.

An hour and a half later the wreck was tied snugly to the wrecker and we climbed aboard. The four-ton monster joggled over the roads. We stopped once to pick up another wrecked vehicle and then we were finally dumped off at the city limits.

We finished our work at 4 a. m. after another 30 minutes. We managed to get a ride to a replacement depot where there was free lodging with a cot and blanket.

At 6:30 a. m., we shook King, who was asleep, and told him we had to get moving. We bathed under a trickle of water dripping from a shower nozzle, grabbed a hasty breakfast and hitched another ride back to the airstrip where King's plane was parked.

We were soon back at the forward landing strip.

"Where are you headed now?" King asked.

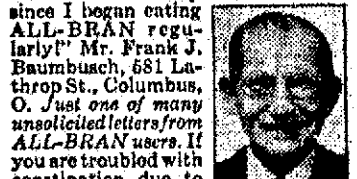

Toward the front, we told him. American troops were on the move and it was a story we had to have.

King shook his head slowly.

"From here on," he said, "I'll never gripe at my job. You guys are nuts."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—An industry is being built up around the discovery that the average American woman is what the dress trade calls a "half pint."

She is said to be only slightly over five feet three—certainly not the tall and willowy beanpole for which the Paris creations are designed.

Sixty per cent of American women are five feet five, or under, our government tells us. And a sizeable number of these aren't exactly toothpicks.

Neither are they stylish slouts—a term usually reserved for the woman who is large in all directions. Now are most of them the schoolgirl types for which misses' styles were primarily designed.

They are simply the not-so-tall-as-they'd-like, and the well-rounded average American woman who have to watch how they dress to avoid looking dumpy — to quote the dress trade.

A small but growing segment of the women's wear trade is saying that suits and dresses should be designed, scaled and styled for this average woman — instead of just being cut down to fit.

One of the leaders in this movement, Murray Sices of New York, claims he got the idea in the Army when he was detailed to outfit WACS. He says the amount and costs of alterations were stupendous, because the uniforms had been designed for the above average sized girl.

The Department of Agriculture (which sometimes gets into rather unexpected studies of figures) looks at women this way: 65 per cent are between four feet and five feet five; 33 per cent are between five feet five and five feet nine; one per cent are under four feet nine (they and their slightly taller sisters are the ones at which the platform shoe maker aims); one per cent are the ideal French mannequin type—described as five feet nine or so, weight 120 pounds, waist 22 or 23, and a handful are in the really tall girl class—who also have gentlemen devoted to their special problem of dress, and an entire, if small industry built up around it.

Catering to the average, or in-between woman, as she's called in the trade, is paying off. To take two examples from a growing number of those who specialize in outfitting the half-pints:

The Murray Sices Corp. of New York, which makes nothing but suits for the four foot nine to five foot five group, sold $300,000 worth of suits in 1945-46. Sices says this year's sales will be around $6 million. The suits are styled to make wearers look slender and taller. Sices has some tricks of his own, as well as the usual ones of vertical stripes, no shoulder padding, and "not cutting the figure in two."

He also has a campaign on to change the attitude of stores. He wants them to stop segregating customers that is, trying to shunt the small and the plumpish (who after all may be the average) into departments labelled for them.

"The secret to women's clothes," he says, "is their variety. They refuse to be seen in such departments. They buy the regulars and have them altered, at great expense, to the store."

He wants all sizes sold in the same departments without comment by the clerks, who would be trained to look at the customer and know at once what she needed. The idea is: "she'll be happy with a 'half pint' suit, if you don't force her to notice the classification."

Another New York firm aimed at the same "in-betweeners" is the Superior Garment Co., which makes coats, as it says, "for the womanly woman" — not tailored for "fairlybook ladies, but for actual averages scores in inches and fractions from wide-scale surveys of women as they are."

CAREER WOMAN

It seems to be generally accepted as a fact that the woman in the home is a "non-career" woman. It is presumed that a woman must choose between home-making and a career, and that she who gives up the business or professional world for the life of a housewife thereby gives up her career.

At the recent congress of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women the remark was made that career women had no wish to belittle the importance of the home and the women in it. This calls for some clarification. Just what is a career?

Dictionaries generally agree that a career is a course through life, in a chosen activity or work. But Funk and Wagnall adds this significant afterthought: "especially when abounding in remarkable actions or incidents." Business or professional life brings remarkable incidents to some of its followers, but none of them is like unto those which befall the housewife and mother. What incidents are more remarkable than a baby's first steps, his exploration of the refrigerator while Mother talks on the phone, the discovery of speech, and the myriad other things which are crowded between birth and maturity?

When a woman has prepared herself and taken a place in the working world, she has accomplished something, and has started toward many other accomplishments. But when she takes on the job of housewife and sets out to raise a family, there begins a career which will fit the most exacting definition.

THE CHANNEL SWIMMERS

No summer crop of English swimmers fails to bring the question: Why do they do it? Probably many make the attempt for the sake of the money to be picked up in advertising contracts, and this brings up another question: Why does so much excitement attend the attempt? Swimming will never replace the motor ship or the airplane as a way to get from Calais to Dover. What has been gained when the Channel has been swum?

The question might be asked with even more puzzlement after Florence Chadwick of San Diego broke the record for women swimmers set by Gertrude Ederle almost a quarter of a century ago. For Miss Chadwick apparently had not cashed in on advance publicity and at the end of her swim announced that she had no intention of capitalizing the feat in the future. She had wanted for years to break that record; now she had done it and she was going back to San Diego.

For certain individuals, swimming the Channel is a thing which has to be done. Others have to climb the Matterhorn, or accomplish one of a thousand other feats equally impractical, not for anything to be gained by doing it but for the sheer exhilaration of having done it. It cannot be said that everybody ought to try to swim the Channel, but there is much to be said for fixing on some difficult goal of personal

BOOK REVIEWS

The "New York Times" and "New York Herald Tribune" have virtually established a monopoly in book reviews through their weekly supplements, which are widely read throughout the country. Publishers generally find it advantageous to advertise in these supplements, thus avoiding the more expensive effort of making their wares known to prospective customers by advertising generally in a large number of newspapers and magazines.

Thus, a conscious effort has been made to establish these book supplements as authoritative, although a book review, to be authoritative, needs to be done by a scholar of equal rank, if not superior, to the author. For instance, Oppenheimer or Einstein might be called authoritative, but Einstein on Pareto would be just one man's opinion, worth what it may be.

Also, if these reviews are to be worthy of attention there should be no log-rolling, no cliques, no cliques, no friends boosting friends. That, of course, is a problem of editing.

In my particular field, the Far East, I have found a degeneration of scholarship and a tendency both in the "Times" and the "Herald Tribune" to accept the line of the Institute of Pacific Relations and the Alger Hiss clique of the State Department. So, when Owen Lattimore's book, "Ordeal by Slander," appeared as a book of self-confessed mendacity—the "Herald Tribune" used as reviewer John K. Fairbank of Harvard. According to Lattimore's book, Fairbank is his personal partisan, leading in the fight to justify Lattimore and to break down Senator Joe McCarthy.

In a word, John K. Fairbank is not an objective scholar in this matter but a supporter of the author; in fact, he played a direct and personal role in the martyrdom. This is what Lattimore has to say on the subject:

"John Fairbank, at Harvard, sent out telegrams to a long list of Far Eastern experts all over the country, suggesting that they write to Senator Tydings, the chairman of the committee."

Yet, the editor of the "Herald Tribune" featured a review of Lattimore's book by this same John Fairbank, putting it on the front page, which is regarded highly in this monopolistic book review business. Fairbank has for several years been a Chiang Kai-shek opponent, a Chinese Nationalist baiter. He has a right to his opinions and judgments, although they do not stand up today in the face of Soviet Russia's conquest of China and the deaths of our boys in Korea.

That, however, is not my present theme, which is to inquire how it is possible to trust the reliability of these book reviews when the editors select as reviewers self-professed partisans and associates of the authors. This has happened not once but often.

It could almost be said that in Far Eastern matters during the past 10 years, it has always happened: the book supplements, in effect, instructing publishers by this indirect process that books favorable to the cause of Nationalist China or opposed to Communist China or even inquiring into the bona fides of Russia's conduct in China are likely to be assailed, assaulted and their authors maligned by a clique that has, by doctrinaire concepts, brought this country into another war and close to disaster.

I make no reference to the reviews themselves nor to Lattimore's book. Time will undoubtedly establish the truth in these matters. The Tydings investigation was nothing of the sort. It made no study; produced no evidence of value; and suppressed important data. Someday, an investigation will be made of the foreign policy of the United States since 1934 when the Harold Ware Committee Cell was organized in Washington, Mayne, it will be done by a congressional committee or by some objective scholar like the late Charles A. Beard. Then we shall get at the truth.

As it is now, there are half facts, half-truths, leads, assumptions and doubts in all directions. I possess a vast amount of data, all of which I believe to be true and none of which I can, at this juncture, prove. Others are in the same position. Links that could provide the truth are missing. Documents essential to proof are unavailable. But in time, it will all appear and we shall know why we lost World War II and why we find ourselves fighting in World War III.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SIMPLE TREATMENT FOR ASTHMA

The common treatment for an attack of asthma has been an injection of adrenalin (epinephrine) which stops the attack within a few minutes. More recently it has been found that two new drugs, benadryl and pyribenzamine, are just as effective as adrenalin in most cases. This is a great change from the days when there was no specific or special treatment for asthma.

Adrenalin, benadryl, pyribenzamine and other drugs are antihistaminic drugs in that they stop or interfere with the action of histamine which is the chief cause of asthma. It is because about one in every five or six individuals manufactures too much histamine that they suffer with asthma, hay fever, hives, head "colds," and abdominal symptoms. So, today, the physician uses an antihistaminic drug and if this is not effective tries to find some nose or throat defect that may "start" the attacks.

What may prove to be a great boon to sufferers from asthma is reported by a regular correspondent in the Journal of the American Medical Association. This correspondent gives a report of Dr. A. Asare as a new method he has used successfully for checking rapidly an attack of bronchial asthma. The method consists of pushing up slightly the abdominal organs with one or both hands. The hands may be placed at any level of the abdomen in one or both sides at the same time, upper, middle or lower abdomen—while the individual lies partly on side and back, or in a sitting or standing position. After a few minutes, sometimes after only a few seconds, the patient feels relieved and the breathing becomes easy while the wheezy, whistling chest noises, which were heard over the whole chest, stops entirely.

This simple method can be taught to the patient who can push up abdominal organs himself when the attack first starts and he feels the tight feeling in the chest and swelling of the abdomen. He may then stop an asthmatic attack in its early stages. This step pushing upwards on abdomen is simple treatment and would not be recorded in the Journal of the American Medical Association if it had not been successful in Italy. Fortunately, drugs are now available to stop asthmatic attacks.

Asthma, Causes and Treatment

The cause or causes of asthma were unknown until recently. Now that it is known that allergy, nose and throat defects, emotional disturbances, can cause the attacks, most asthmatics can be helped. Send today for Dr. Barton's handy booklet, entitled, "Asthma," enclosing 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., 100 N. York, N. Y. How's Business?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by members of his staff.)

Harriman's Trip

Washington—The latest reason for Averell Harriman's flying trip to Tokyo wasn't to scold General MacArthur for conferring with Chiang Kai-shek, as the dopests have reported. Instead, President Truman simply got impatient waiting for MacArthur's report and sent Harriman to get it.

Ironically, the detailed report from MacArthur reached Washington after Harriman was already en route. So he made the trip for nothing.

Actually, Truman knew in advance that MacArthur planned to meet Chiang Kai-shek—though the time hadn't been set. The President also didn't trust Secretary of Defense Johnson to relay an accurate report, because of Johnson's strong pro-Chiang sympathies.

Malik in Doghouse

Inside the U. S. Security Council, Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik is in the Kremlin doghouse because he let U. S. Delegate Warren Austin nuzzle him into saying that the only Russian arms possessed by the North Koreans were those "which we sold them when Soviet forces withdrew from Korea."

This is the first time Malik or any other Soviet leader has admitted that the North Koreans are using Soviet weapons.

More important, from the standpoint of the United States, it will make wonderful propaganda if we discover any Soviet military equipment in Korea that wasn't there when the Russians withdrew. This would expose Malik as a liar before the world. For instance, we have positive knowledge that the Russians had no jet planes in Korea at the time they departed in December, 1947. So if the North Koreans turn up with jet planes, they must have come from Russia after the withdrawal.

Also, as one top official in the United States delegation explained: "Malik's statement will certainly bar the Russians from supplying the North Koreans with new arms from here on in."

Note—Andrei Gromyko, Malik's predecessor, is masterminding the Soviet delegate from Moscow. However, it's a cinch that the much cleverer Gromyko didn't coach Malik to make the "arms" statement.

Weird Alibi

Senator Brewster's weird alibi about being trailed by a New York "gangster" is breaking down. The Maine senator told this yarn to explain how he happened to meet Washington police lieutenant Joe Shimon, the wire-tapper. The story goes that Shimon was supposed to investigate who was trailing Brewster, got $100 to $125 for "expenses."

Such an important police assignment, however, would have to be reported at police headquarters. Yet Police Chief Barrett claims no report was ever filed. Barrett also points out that it is against police regulations to take "expense money."

"Indoctrination" On Communism
In preparation for the coming campaign, House G. O. P. members are getting some expert "indoctrination" on communism in a series of three secret lectures.

The last of these lectures, scheduled for tomorrow night at Washington's Hotel Continental, will be made by James Burnham, a former Marxist now on the faculty of New York University. Recently returned from Europe, Burnham will discuss "Soviet strategy for world conquest." Last week Dr. Stefan Possony, a Vienna professor who teaches geopolitics at Georgetown University, spoke on "American and Soviet foreign policies."

The week before G. O. P. congressmen got a closed-door briefing on "Stalin's international apparatus" by Josef Zaeck, a former Communist and member of the party's central executive committee in the United States.

All three lectures bear down on the fact that we are too "soft" with Communists and haven't done an effective counterpropaganda job. The G. O. P. politicians are being urged by their leaders to make campaign speeches tiling in this "professional" data on Red activities with "laxity" by the Democratic administration.

G. O. P. Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts frankly told his colleagues at the first secret session that the lectures would provide good "campaign material." (Copyright, 1950, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Questions — Answers

Q—How should a puppy be registered?

A—You cannot register a pup unless the litter has been registered. That does not mean that each pup in a litter has to be registered individually, but rather that the breeder registers the litter as a whole.

Q—What type of religion is Lamaism?

A—Lamaism practiced in Tibet, is a form of Buddhism.

Q—What nation besides the United States celebrates its independence on July 4?

A—The Philippines. On July 4, 1946, the independent Republic of the Philippines was proclaimed.

Q—Why is South Carolina called the Palmetto State?

A—During the attack on Fort Sullivan, in Charleston Harbor, 1776, it was found that the soft palmetto logs of which the fort was built did not splinter when hit by shells from the British fleet. The shells burrowed into the palmetto logs with little effect, thus aiding the South Carolinians, who later expressed their gratitude to the tree by making it the nickname of their state.

Q—How many world languages are recognized?

A—The actual number of languages computed by officers of the French Academy is put at 2796.

BARBS

By HAL COCHRAN

A man was robbed of $500 15 minutes after he won it at a bar night. Next time he may be lucky enough not to win.

Don't go around with a long face, men—the barber might charge you double.

Closing the eyes eight hours every night keeps away those dark circles. Leave them open too long and your eyes are in the bag.

Dances With Snake

Rangoon (UPI)—Chico is 18 inches of performing Burmese monkey. When he goes into his roadside dance he does it with a three-foot cobra. Rest periods he strokes the snake laying its head on his hairy paw. His Chinese owner won't say how he involved Chico in this unusual monkey business which pays dividends.

New Alibi Is Heard at Capital: Taxpayers Responsible for Failures in Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 15—There's a new alibi around here—it seems that now the American people are to blame for the failures in Korea. Nobody in Washington presumably had any responsibility—it was just the failure of the people to let Washington spend more money.

This type of argument assumes that the military men in our top command must forget their duty as military advisers and be swayed by political considerations and public opinion's desires about spending. Evidently they must not speak up and tell the country what is really needed for military defense and safety.

But the people will not be fooled by these alibis. They are insistent that something be done about the blunders—no tanks, no aircraft carriers, no marines, no tactical aviation in the Far East when trouble came. The bitterness of feeling against the President is growing. Letters from different parts of the country show that his recent refusal to shake up the top command and the civilians who bungled the job is turning a wave of new criticism against him.

The President's responsibility will be a subject of wide discussion. For it was his executive order issued in 1946—and reiterated regularly since—which has squelched the military men below the top group of political generals and prevented them from speaking their minds.

The executive memorandum was referred to in a speech in the House of Representatives on April 5, 1950, by Representative Van Zandt, Republican of Pennsylvania, whose courageous demand for an investigation last year brought out a record of facts that tells the story of why there has been failure in Korea. The President's order, dated November 15, 1946, was addressed to the director of the budget. It has been the basic policy of his administration ever since. It reads in part:

"I cannot condone the practice of seizing upon any opportunity which arises to attack the military, or to deprive the United States Army of its own air-support units, or to deprive the United States Navy of its own fleet support units."

"When you notify the heads of the various departments and agencies of the amounts to be included in the 1948 budget for their activities, I wish you would include a reminder that I shall expect them and their subordinates to support only the President's estimates in hearings and discussions with members of Congress. "yes man" psychology. Any military man who differed conscientiously and tried to offer an expert opinion was called an "insurrectionist." Admiral Denfeld was removed as an example. A rereading of the testimony in those House hearings last year tells what is wrong today. The President picked the wrong advisers—and still keeps them.

When the navy's battleship Missouri ran aground, a fine naval officer was court-martialed and his career ruined—but that's the inexorable rule of the navy. Today, when the United States Army is without proper air support for ground troops in Korea or anywhere else, nobody is court-martialed.

Today, when the United States Navy has most of its aircraft carriers in mothballs and the marine corps has been cut to pieces by the combined votes of General Bradley and General Vandenberg in the joint chiefs of staff, neither the President nor Congress has taken the generals to task.

Only last fall the marine corps was fighting for its life against dismemberment by Generals Bradley and Vandenberg. But the marine corps managed somehow, with the help of Congress, to keep some of its integrated combat teams, with their own airplanes. And here is the payoff as told in a dispatch this week from a United Press correspondent at the Korean battlefield:

"The smash down the coast was the acid test for close air support. Two units—one army, one marine—of the same comparative size jumped off at the same point, the same time, against similar enemy concentrations in identical terrain."

"The marines, with close air support, moved 27 miles in four days with light casualties. The army, which had just the usual air coverage, bogged down after suffering heavy casualties."

That's the tragic story of the "yes man" under made by a majority of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff depriving the United States Army of its own air-support units.

There is too much politics in Washington or else there would be some heads removed, both civilian and military. Softness and political thinking have no place in a wartime setup, as lives are being rendered. It may take more indignation from the people before they get the changes they want. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 14—The White River Valley Herald, whose circulation field includes most of the Red belt of Vermont, has run an editorial on the Communist infiltration of this old Yankee Republican country.

The editorial says Randolph Center, a hamlet in the area, "has won dubious distinction as the summer residence of a number of persons whose names have appeared in news items and magazines as prominent in the lower editorial echelons of the Communist movement in this country. These people are well known to us in the town of Randolph and they are known to the F. B. I. They have been here a number of years so the fact is nothing new. Some of them, on questions of Communist activities, have refused to testify in grounds that to do so might incriminate—their constitutional privilege."

"As far as this paper is concerned, anyone who can't testify on that subject without incriminating himself can get out of here the faster and farther the better. We believe this is the sense of the majority of the residents of this town. Such people are nothing to contribute to our community life."

"Having got this off our chest, we would like to warn against a danger that can and is doing more harm to our communities than all the complex this side of Hades. The danger is a witch-hunt that would stir neighbor against neighbor, excite suspicion and slander that would smear as disloyal any person whose opinions did not happen to agree with the predictions or prejudices of the accuser."

In this second paragraph, the Herald pulls the rug from under its hold and in the first paragraph. Thereafter, the Herald plays itself for a fall by quoting J. Edgar Hoover against amateur witch-hunt.

It seems to me, though, that if a colony of Communists were "well known to us" for some years, an alert press should have crusaded against it. It is not a legitimate function of the press to drive out law-abiding patriots, but don't tell me it should drive out Communists. The crime-must-go crusade is an ancient and honorable institution of American journalism and many a time we have taken pride in crusades on our own initiative to expose crooks in office who were impairing and discrediting popular government.

Compared to Communists these crooks were petty malefactors. A Communist is a member of a criminal conspiracy against the people and government of the United States organized and directed by a foreign enemy. That enemy even now has the government of the State of New York cultivating a popular psychology to endure atomic bombing and a slaughter of civilians beyond human experience and imagination. That being so, isn't it a very proper repetition of the lower editorial echelons of the Communist movement in this country. These people are well known to us in the town of Randolph and they are known to the F. B. I. They have been here a number of years so the fact is nothing new. Some of them, on questions of Communist activities, have refused to testify in grounds that to do so might incriminate—their constitutional privilege."

Say Korean War Should Keep Him In Governor Post

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—A group of 40 Republicans from the New York city area has appealed to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to run for reelection in view of the "grave emergency" created by the Korean War.

A letter to Dewey making the plea was made public last night by Cornelius W. Wickersham, Jr., a lawyer and chairman of the National Affairs Committee of the National Republican Club.

Other signers included present and former Republican office holders and candidates, but no top G.O.P. leaders.

The group has circulated the letter to party leaders throughout the state in a new move to persuade Dewey to change his mind and run again in November. The letter said Dewey alone could provide the "skill and experience" needed in the governor's chair in view of the war emergency.

Dewey's office in Albany said he had not seen the letter, which was being forwarded to him at his Pawling, N. Y., farm.

The Wickersham group urged renomination of Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley and other leading members of the Dewey administration.

There was little encouragement for the group as state Republican Chairman William L. Pfeiffer met here yesterday with G.O.P. county chairmen from the New York area.

Pfeiffer told newsmen after the closed session that the "trend of thought" of the leaders appeared "conclusive" that Hanley would be nominated for governor. Other leaders at the meeting said they did not believe Dewey would alter his decision not to run. Hanley has had the inside track since the governor eliminated himself.

Pfeiffer said no decisions were reached at the meeting, and that most of the discussion dealt with the choice of candidates for U. S. senator and lieutenant governor to run with Hanley.

The state chairman mentioned many candidates who had been discussed. Among those mentioned for U. S. senator was Gen.

Will Vote on Fund For Volunteers' Home

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Members of the New York State Volunteer Firemen's Association vote today on a proposal to build a $200,000 addition to the hospital at the Firemen's Home in Hudson.

Trustees of the home decided yesterday to submit the plan to a membership vote. They said the addition would double the capacity of the hospital.

More than 2,500 delegates from 1,700 volunteer departments are attending the State Association's 78th annual convention, which opened yesterday. A parade on Friday winds up the sessions.

A First Aid contest held last night was won by the Katonah Fire Department, which accumulated 271 points out of a possible 300.

The contest was divided into three problems. Sea Breeze of Monroe county won top place in the first problem, the Sidney Emergency Squad took the second, and Katonah won the third.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University.

Also among those mentioned for U. S. senator, Pfeiffer said, were State Senator Thomas C. Desmond, of Orange and Rockland counties; former Secretary of War R. Brewster; John J. Kneiwitz, Bronx; Edward A. Ruppel, Staten Island; J. Russell Sprague, Nassau; Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, Suffolk, and Livingston Platt, Westchester.

Frank Kenna, Queens leader, was unable to attend because he missed a plane connection returning from an upstate vacation, it was announced.

Wherry fired back angrily with an assertion that Secretary of State Acheson's policies had been a failure in Asia, shouting:

"The American people have lost faith in Mr. Acheson and the ineptness of the Truman administration. We must get rid of Mr. Acheson and put some one in the State Department who has not blundered us into war."

Korean Reds Are Off Schedule in Victory Prediction

Tokyo, Aug. 15 (AP)—Outnumbered allied forces apparently have jammed the North Korean timetable for throwing American-United Nations forces off the Korean peninsula.

The new Red deadline for completion of the Communist conquests in the south is Sept. 1. It was officially set by the North Korean premier and commander-in-chief.

Since Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker's no-retreat order, allied troops have yielded ground grudgingly, and at heavy cost to Red troops.

Two limited American counter-offensives, unleashed in little more than a week at more than division strength, obviously have thrown the Communists off balance.

North Korean broadcasts of the past few days have complained of "strong (allied) defense positions" northwest of Taegu. This is the highway and rail city in the corridor leading straight to Pusan, the end of the allied line 55 air-miles to the southwest.

North Korean prisoners in American hands said they had been ordered to take Taegu on Tuesday, the fifth anniversary of Korean liberation from Japan on V-J day.

Taegu still stands as the provisional South Korean capital. There were indications the Korean Communist leaders were for the first time openly worried over the outcome of the war they started June 25 with an invasion across the 38th parallel.

Kim Il Sung, Red premier and commander-in-chief, told his forces Tuesday they must throw U. S. and South Korean troops out of Korea in the next 16 days—by the end of August—or face a much harder task because of the progressing allied buildup.

A 22-man Red China mission led by such potentates as Moscow-trained Li Li-san and Kuo Mo-wei, vice premiers, are visiting the North Korean capital, Pyongyang. Only a week ago the Chinese Communist radio at Peking said the North Koreans had turned down their offer of military aid as not needed at the time.

Political implications of the Red Chinese visit to Red Korea were not clear. Some quarters in Tokyo said it could signal a move to obtain closer support from the Chinese Communists now.

Draftees Get Pre-Induction Examination

This is part of a bus load of 35 young men who were shipped to Albany yesterday by Local Draft Board 19, covering the county, for their pre-induction examination. They will not know the results for about ten days. They left the city at 7:40 a. m., yesterday and returned at about 7:30 p. m. The group above left the bus near the office of the draft board. WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Matteson's Show Of Theatre Folk Is at Playhouse

Woodstock, Aug. 15—Barlow Matteson, whose exhibition of paintings of members of the Margaret Webster Company which opens today at the Woodstock Playhouse, as a boy loved pictures and painting. Equally as much he liked to spend his spare time backstage with actors, observing rehearsals and the life backstage.

Still in his teens in Buffalo he won a scholarship to the Art School of the Albright Art Gallery and from that time on he decided to be an artist. Eager to go to New York, he wonders now how he did the courage to do what he did. He simply boarded a train for New York city in search of fame and fortune, equipped only with a paint brush and plenty of ambition. After many years and a great deal of hard work he became an illustrator for the Saturday Evening Post and other national magazines. It was a strenuous and exciting life but it proved to be a splendid background for his later painting.

Matteson says that he isn't interested in any particular school of painting, but he is interested in all good painting. Since coming to the Catskill mountain country his desire has been to paint the life around him. He has drawn the people, the mountains, the Hudson river, the old Dutch farms and his neighbors. Not interested in studio pictures he turns to the life around him for inspiration.

Since the theatre has always had a great appeal for him, he has found a wealth of material there for his paintings. He is more apt, however, to find his subject matter backstage rather than in the performance. He has been fascinated with the building of the sets, the lighting effects, the comedy and drama, the dressing rooms and the actors themselves.

Matteson has considered it a great privilege to have access to the Playhouse and to match the Margaret Webster Company in action. The splendid cooperation of the playhouse has made possible the portrait sketches which are in the current exhibition. In doing them, Matteson is carrying out a life-long ambition to paint the theatre.

Longshoremen Boycott Russian Canned Goods

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—A.F.L. longshoremen here, angered by the Korean war, have shipped a boycott on $250,000 worth of Russian canned crab meat.

They say it can go back to Russia before they'll unload it from the British liner Parthia.

The Parthia leaves for Boston today, and will probably run into the same boycott trouble there when it arrives Wednesday.

"You can rest assured we will not move the Russian cargo on inch," declared Daniel J. Donovan, vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association in Boston.

The crabs—80 tons packed in large wooden cases—are the property of the British government.

A United Kingdom trade official here said last night that Russia insisted Britain take it as part of a trade treaty deal that swapped British machinery for Russian timber.

At about 65 cents a can, it was too rich for Britain's austerity diet, and it was decided to sell it in America.

"Why help Russia make money in this country?" asked Frank Keenins, I.L.A. shop steward here. "Most of the men here are veterans. We'll be fighting Russia soon."

leave from royal navy duties—immediately telephoned the news to King George VI, who is in Scotland on a grouse shooting vacation at Balmoral castle.

Princess Margaret also is in Scotland, visiting friends.

Prince Charles spent the morning playing as usual with his nurse, Helen Lightbody.

A patient and growing crowd of several hundred had waited expectantly outside Elizabeth's residence throughout the morning.

United States Air Force units stationed in Britain had received special orders in deference to the birth, which had been expected since last week. The airmen were instructed by their commander not to fly over Clarence House until after the baby was born.

The British press called this a "chivalrous gesture."

North Korea Hit Hard by Planes From Navy Force

With Task Force 77 Off Korea, Aug. 13 (Delayed) (AP)—The 13th was a lucky day for carrier planes of Vice Adm. Arthur Dewey Struble's Naval Task Force 77.

Carrier-borne Skyraiders, Corsairs and Panther jets knocked out more than 30 Communist locomotives and many freight and troop cars in the area of Pyongyang, capital of North Korea.

First to hit the jackpot was Lt. D. R. Hagood, Fort Worth, Tex. He and his wingmen found seven locomotives with steam up in a yard north of Kunchon. The early morning jet sweep smashed all seven.

Lt. Robert C. Logan, Coronado, Calif., got his locomotive with an 11.75-inch Tiny Tim rocket. Logan said: "The train had just crossed a bridge north of Pyongyang when I let go at the engine. It exploded underneath me and when I turned there just wasn't any engine—not even a big piece."

Tiny Tim rockets were used Saturday and Sunday for the first time by Task Force 77 and were found to pack a punch equal to a 500-pound bomb or a 12-inch shell.

At Haeju, 50 miles west of Kunchon, 12 tank cars were strafed and burned. Near Yontan most of an 18 car ammunition train was exploded and seven troops-laden coaches were strafed.

In Chinnampo harbor a Liberty-type ship was rocked and burned and a gunboat and two other small craft were destroyed nearby. Depth charges were dropped successfully on a chemical and smelting plant east of Chinnampo. The navy fliers also knocked out power plants, trucks, jeeps, houses, power stations, factories and bridges—all adding up to a major reduction of Communist war potential.

Over Pyongyang heavy and accurate radar controlled attack fire was encountered. However, all planes and pilots returned safely from the 161 sorties.

Law Is Respected

Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 15 (AP)—Two gunmen who stole $80 from liquor store owner John Burr yesterday evidently have some respect for the law, after all. One of the bandits lifted a bottle of whiskey from the shelf and started to take a drink. "Not here," cautioned his companion. "This is an off-sale place. It's against the law." So the pair left—with the whiskey.

OFFICE CAT

Keep on your own side of the fence and mind your own business, and you will get the reputation of being a good neighbor.

A young mother asked her butcher to weigh the baby. "With pleasure, madam . . . 13½ lbs. with no bones."

A boy, returning from the river one Sunday with his fishing rod over his shoulder, met his father, who said:

Father—Son, didn't I teach you not to go fishing on Sunday?

Son—I've not been fishing. I just went for a walk.

Dad—Then why did you take your rod?

Son—Oh, I took it along in case I should be tempted.

Two friends were riding in a bus when one noticed that the other had his eyes closed.

Fred—What's the matter, Bill? Are you ill?

Bill—No, I just can't bear to see women standing.

If you would win success, put faith behind your prayers and a consistent life before them at all times.

Goofus—Did you tell it all around camp that my head was "made of solid ivory?"

Rufus—No, indeed. I never used such language.

Goofus—Then what did you say about me?

Rufus—I merely stated that you carried more osseous matter above your shoulders than any man I had met in camp.

Goofus—Oh, that's different.

Pedestrian—A motorist who has finally found a parking place.

Teacher—What's the shape of the earth?

Junior—Round.

Teacher—How do you know it's round?

Junior—All right. It's square then. I don't want to start any argument about it.

Mary—It was very romantic. He proposed to her in the automobile.

Janie—Yes?

Mary—And she accepted him in the hospital.

Customer—Where is the other barber you formerly had here?

The one who used to tell the funny stories?

Barber—He got too ambitious.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office)

By Jimmy Hatlo

He started to illustrate his funny stories with cuts.

The word mausoleum is derived from the name of King Mausolus, who built a lavish tomb in ancient Caria, in Southwest Turkey.

The newest ailment is "Bridge Wrist," due to constantly inhibited desire to strangle one's partner.

Mistress—Nora, you were entertaining a man in the kitchen last night, were you not?

Nora—That's for him to say. I did my best.

Ted—Where have you been for the last four years?

Fred—At college taking medicine.

Ted—And did you finally get well?

We heard two birds blowing about their ancestry.

First Bird—I can trace my family ancestry back to William the Conqueror. I suppose you can trace your ancestry back to Noah's Ark?

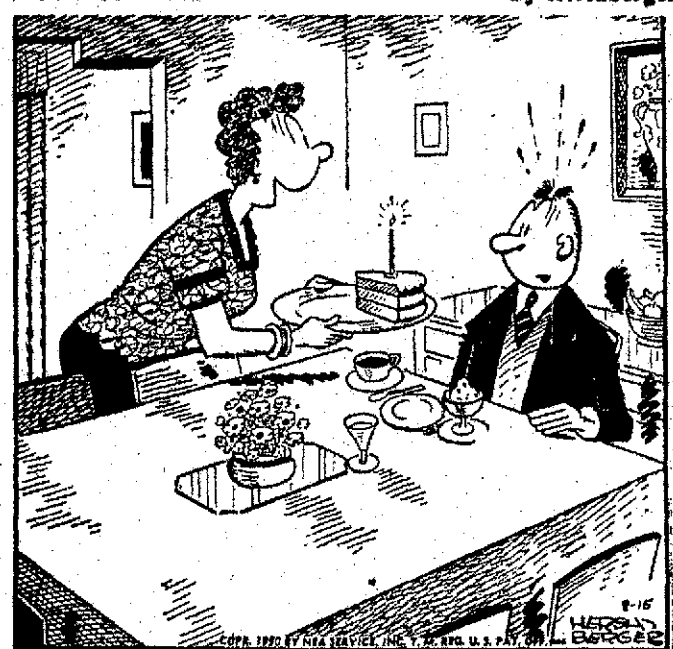

Second Bird—Certainly not. My people had a boat of their own.

At the conclusion of a nature lesson the teacher said:

Teacher—Now don't you think it's wonderful how the little chickens get out of their shells?

The Kids Go to Camp

By FRANK TRIPP

The kids went away to camp. It's a question who looked forward to their exodus more longingly—the kids or the neighbors. Even the parents and grandparents could hardly wait for the heavenly calm, quiet and repose. It was to be glorious, we thought.

It didn't work out that way at all. They hadn't been gone an hour when Fanny said "Gee, it seems lonesome." Being a bit slower to discount the new peace that surrounded the place, I just said "Oh yeah," but before night I was wishing them back, devil though they are.

Our Steve and Teddy and their pal Sandy Perry were the departed triumvirate. The Three Musketeers, we call them. They left our lakeside Summer abode on Seneca to gang up with a hundred more kids at camp over on Keuka. They are nineish.

Turk, who is six, the worry-wart who be devils them all Summer, was too young to go. He feels big enough for everything they do and violently resented the age ruling which barred him.

Thus he alone posed an unexpected home problem which approached that continually created by the whole lot of them. A problem, we soon discovered, that has become a part of our lives. Instead of bringing relief, the youngsters' absence made us melancholy.

FANNY AND I had been through it with our own kids. So when the young parents returned from leaving their boys with strange camp counselors, we were prepared for their remorse and their suddenly acquired yearn for the missing war whoops, tumblers down cliffs, skinned knees, lost tools and littered lawns.

Their first shock came at the parting with their offspring. They had envisioned a last minute tussle with homesickness and had steeled themselves for it. Instead, as soon as the kids got to camp, they had no more concern for their parents than a weaned calf has for its mother. There were no farewell sniffles; they could hardly wait for the oldsters to get themselves away from there.

Most parents remember the first such parting from their children: the feeling of uselessness that it brought over them; the first realization of what they are destined to suffer all through life.

THE FIRST NIGHT that the boys were away endeared Turk to us after a new fashion. It was sort of pathetic, the way the little fellow met his lonely crisis. He couldn't go to camp as he asked to sleep alone in the tent along the beach where the older boys bunk much in Summer; a typical, crude, disorderly kid setup.

multitude of ways. Every case differs from every other case. But the point is: High income from risk-laden stocks should not be carelessly handled. The economic picture of each individual should be carefully studied before any action is taken.

As I see it, the war situation now developing will intensify this income-cost relationship. Economic paradoxes are common these days. The more money the government borrows, the cheaper will be the rate if the authorities so choose. And the more dislocated our peace-war demands become, the more difficult will be the problem of holding prices and costs down.

The theme of this brief article, centered so vitally into the economic welfare of millions of our people, could well be the theme expounded by investment brokers everywhere. If I were an executive of a stock brokerage firm, I would give earnest consideration to the scheduling of half a dozen lecture forums this fall and winter at which these matters would be intelligently discussed.

There is no community in America where rising living costs and low income rates are not most significant economic matters.

High School Evangelist To Speak Here Thursday

Henry Beukema, of New York, will speak and show pictures of the High-School Born-Againers Club, in a service Thursday at 7:45 p. m. at the Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf street and Wiltywick avenue. A number of churches will be represented in this service, interested friends are welcome.

Beukema will speak concerning high-school evangelism, which is carried on as a non-denominational program interested in (1) winning converts to Christ, and (2) training of lives for Christian character. In the New York Metropolitan area, approximately 140 high schools are represented in clubs of this organization. Plans are under way for a full-time worker in this area, and details will be discussed at the Thursday night meeting.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may never otherwise occur, it's amazing how many three Doan's give happy relief. Help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Optometrists Name Emergency Committee

Dr. Theodore H. Conklin, president, N.Y.S.O.A., has announced the appointment of a Special Emergency Service Committee to study plans to meet emergency civilian visual care needs, and to assist Selective Service in the procurement of optometrists for military duty.

Arthur William Berger, Bronx, is chairman of the new committee, which will be composed of members from all parts of the state. Dr. William Roth, also of the Bronx, who is chairman of the association's public information bureau, and who served on a local draft board in World War II, has been named consultant to the committee.

Pointing out that at least half the population of New York state requires regular visual care for maximum vocational and personal efficiency, Dr. Conklin said, "Since optometrists are consulted by more than 75 per cent of the people who seek visual care, we consider it our responsibility to appraise current visual care resources in New York and to prepare plans for maintaining maximum visual efficiency in any emergency."

The new committee, as part of its duties, has been directed to investigate and report on members and distribution of optometrists available for service to the civilian population, ophthalmic laboratory facilities, and supplies of ophthalmic materials. It was also directed to consider the feasibility of equipping mobile optometric units for service throughout the state as part of the plan for emergency visual care it is required to prepare.

ILL-TIMED VISIT OF UNEXPECTED FRIENDS

An awkward situation is explained: "A dear friend whom I hadn't seen for years and her husband motored several thousand miles on their vacation. They telephoned us from downtown to say that they had driven a hundred miles out of their way in the hope of seeing us. My family and I were standing at that moment with packed bags ready to leave for the week-end. Nevertheless, I told them to come right over, explaining the unfortunate situation. They came and stayed for about an hour and then left. Was it rude of me not to have put away our bags, cancelled our shore reservations and stayed in town, considering how far out of their way they had driven?"

The circumstances in which you found yourself were due to your visitors and not to you. It was their fault not to have let you know ahead of time so that you could have made arrangements accordingly. (p.s. I am including this so that other travelers will avoid this same disappointment.)

Unusual Letter About Shower
Dear Mrs. Post: I believe there are many others who feel as I do, that it is not wrong to be invited to showers even though the guest of honor is not an intimate friend. We all look forward to these parties and are only too glad to buy a present because everyone has such a good time playing games, winning prizes and having good food. These showers provide some of our finest entertainment. I can't understand why you always only print the complaints against them.

Answer: I'm very much surprised by this letter. I think showers are very pleasant informal parties and much enjoyed by those who take part in them. I do believe that they can be overdone, especially if people get into the habit of giving more than trifles or making more than simple preparations. It is quite proper to be invited to a shower for a stranger by a really intimate friend and you, of course, go for her sake.

Girl's Family Announce Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: We are giving a large dinner party and inviting aunts and uncles, nieces and nephews so they can meet my son's fiancée. The engagement has not as yet been announced. Her parents live in a distant city and can't be present at our dinner. We don't know when they will make the announcements but we'd like to know if we may make it here at the time of our dinner.

Answer: You really ought to find out when her family is announcing the engagement so that the notice of your dinner and the reason for your giving it will follow, not precede, their announcement.

Who should pay for the music for the wedding, the bride's family or the groom? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-4 gives a list of wedding expenses and who pays them. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of the Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 15 (AP)—Jeanette Lafferty, 25-year-old school teacher, stopped at the toll house on the Delaware river bridge yesterday, paid the toll and then parked her car, picked up a 22-caliber rifle and killed herself.

Police found an unsigned note in the car saying: "I'm done living. God put me on earth and He is taking me off because I failed miserably." Miss Lafferty had taught fifth grade at Woodbury, N. J., for two years. Last Sunday she returned to her home after attending a summer school session at Cornell University.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Aug. 14 — Mrs. Theodore Valland returned to New York Sunday following a visit of several weeks at the summer home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Valland.

Mr. and Mrs. Raul D. Blasi of Kingston were numbered among the many callers in the reservoir country last Wednesday.

Mrs. John Seor of the Toncho neighborhood has returned home from Stratford, Conn., where she visited her daughter, Celeste.

Up in Deposit, a two and one half year old child, Irving Soden, was attacked by a rabid raccoon and bitten in the left leg four times. The child was being carried by his mother whose frantic shouts brought neighbors who clubbed the crazed animal to death.

Patricia Adsit, winsome small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Adsit, observed her fourth birthday August 11. Patricia's companion and bodyguard, a pedigree boxer dog, has been trained to carry The Freeman home from the corner store.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon of Baldwin, L. I., were week-end guests at the Ashokan home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf and Mr. and Mrs. Burr Elmendorf motored to Albany Hospital Friday to see Mrs. John Arnold, the former Lottie Elmendorf of Shokan. Mrs. Arnold, whose husband died last year, will be confined to a cast several months, as a result of an operation in which portions of her hip bone were removed.

It is said that some mighty big carp lie in the Ashokan Reservoir deeper than those probably is larger than the fresh water monster caught in the Schoharie creek by Earl Coons of Cobleskill. Earl's carp stacked up this way: Length, 39, girth, 24 and weight 28 pounds. What a fish!

Birthdays falling August 15 include that of Anne Longyear who will be 89 this Tuesday. Born a daughter of Solomon and Abigail (Davis) Markle, (present Dibley place), Mrs. Longyear has lived in her Old State Road home since early married life. She has four children, of whom one, Edna, resides with her mother.

The new house built by J. Lohman in West Hurley has been sold through Thord Fredrickson of Shokan to Florence MacKinnon of Flushing, L. I.

Autumn's Suits Mold Femininity

Suits will be feminine this fall, with longer torso, arched neckline and pinched-in waist. A slim gray flannel suit (left) from Philip Mangone has notched collar, longer torso, and wrap-around skirt with back panel. The rounded neckline and narrow skirt are displayed in a gray wool gabardine suit (center) by Paul Parnes. Revers and cuffs are charcoal velvet; strap closings are studded with rhinestones. The tiny waist and curved neckline appear again in a soft blue wool suit (right) designed by Martini. The suit has pocket flaps trimmed in blue mole and is worn with a blue mole stole.

New York—(NEA)—Autumn's suits are molded to the feminine figure.

The waist is nipped and the neckline is rounded. This rounded effect is achieved by padding and by unusual, shaped pockets.

Skirts are very slim and are shorter than last year's. Most of them measure 14 inches from the floor.

While the waist is sharply defined, waistlines generally are longer than they were last fall. Blouses or belted jackets often have belts which dip at the back. The horseshoe-neck jacket, which has a place of importance, also serves to point up the longer torso. Here, the buttons frequently start at the waist since the collar curves down to the waistline.

Tweed and flannel both are prominent in fall suit collections, with the tweed trend extending even to accessories. Color is strong for deep violet and plum, for charcoal gray and for the spice tones: curry, ginger, mace and cinnamon.

Brown is coming back, typified by the new "oxford brown," which is a dark heather brown.

Smoke silver-gray flannel is fashioned by Philip Mangone into a slim suit which gains tuxedo lines through its notched collar. This suit has its own costume blouse of two-tone silver-gray silk, with a matching lining for the jacket. The skirt is wraparound, closing with a wide panel at the back.

The rounded neckline is apparent in a gray wool gabardine suit by designer Paul Parnes. The waist is minute and the skirt, straight and offset by a walking pleat in the back. Charcoal velvet revers and cuffs pick up the gray of the suit and complement the rhinestone-studded horizontal strap closings.

The tiny waist and new neckline appears again in a mole-trimmed wool suit from Martini. Both suit and fur toping pocket flaps which are designed to aid in curving the neckline. The waistline is pointed up by a flaring poplin. The jacket has a wide, notched collar and the skirt has narrow lines.

SOPHIE MILLER

To realize what remarkable people the colonists were is to look at the "People's Advocate," a newspaper printed right here in Kingston. This issue loaned me by Myron Teller was printed Wednesday, February 23, 1825, just about 50 years after the Revolution. It is a four page, five column profusely illustrated paper, of good rag content and good printing and in plain language.

On advertisement with illustration of well rounded barrel read: "New Goods, Quarts Hubbard, informs his friends and the public generally, that he has just received from New York, at his store in Marlborough, a general and well selected assortment of dry goods, groceries, crockery, hardware and ironmongery. Which he will dispose of at a very moderate price for cash or produce."

Also, wanted as above, 100,000 staves and heading. Also, two journeymen coopers. Those who can come well recommended will meet with good encouragement.

Any quantity of good hog-head and barrel hoop-poles, which may be presented, will be purchased and a liberal price paid in goods or cash. Marlborough, December 29, 1824. That little ad fully tells the story of what useful people started this country. Quarts Hubbard believed in live and let live. He not only had commodities necessary for the neighborhood, but he had jobs to offer and also was willing to take in trade the makings of barrels, thus keeping many families self-sufficient.

Another ad with a mortar illustration, today used often by drug stores, advertised at that time "Doctor James Maish has taken the house formerly occupied by Mr. Goodwin, opposite the Academy, in the village of Kingston, where he offers for sale, a general assortment of genuine drugs and medicines, such as sur-

Cruise Ship Burns In St. Lawrence

Tadoussac, Quebec, Aug. 15 (AP)—The 7,000-ton cruise ship Quebec burned to the waterline last night after racing aflame in the St. Lawrence river to land safely some 600 persons aboard.

The 22-year-old vessel was owned and operated by the Canada Steamship Lines, whose cruise ship Noronic burned at her berth in Toronto last Sept. 17, taking a toll of 119 lives.

Operators of the Quebec said she was a "complete loss."

A few among the 400 passengers and approximately 200 crew members on the Quebec reported minor injuries.

Still unexplained was the cause of the fire, discovered late yesterday afternoon as the passengers crowded the Quebec's decks watching the grandeur of the Saguenay Cliffs. The ship sailed from Montreal Sunday night for Quebecville, some 40 miles up the Saguenay river, a tributary of the St. Lawrence.

This paper's error is common although in some metropolitan papers I suspect, not error, but a deliberate and guilty pro-Communist bias. The error lies in the false assumption that Communists are not really dangerous. I believe even Henry Wallace's farewell to his mislabeled Progressive party could be construed as a sad admission that they are.

Grange News

Maykies Twins over in Onondaga county occupy the limelight this week for having passed their 60th Grange milestone. Edwin L. and Albert C. Maykies were born on a farm at Onondaga Hill August 13, 1888, a matter of minutes apart. They've been pretty much together for 82 years since, 60 of them spent as members of Onondaga Hill Grange No. 682. In appropriate ceremonies Pomona Grange turned out to do them honor by presenting them with pins and certificates which had been created, so late is the honor. There have been few grangeurs who could claim such longevity of membership in the eighty-three year old farm fraternity, but we are certain that the Maykies boys are the first twins to attain that distinction.

Ked J. Freestone past master of N. Y. State Grange, who received his own 50-year Golden Shield Certificate two years ago, made the presentation to the Maykies twins, saying, "Grange members throughout the nation will pay homage to your fidelity of service."

Grange exhibits at state fair this year will again reach a high degree of excellence, as the three Pomona and nine subordinate granges, according to custom, will compete for honors and cash awards.

Charles Riley, in charge of Grange exhibit, has announced also there will be three half-hour programs daily, Monday through Friday, in the Grange building (first inside the main gate on right hand side) and will be varied with literary, dramatic and musical entertainment. Ticket Sale Opens for Annual KAA Game, Brooklyn-Against-World

Junior Classic Set For August 31

The ticket sale for the third annual Kingston Athletic Association Junior All-Star baseball classic opened today.

The K.A.A. Juniors recruited from the best scholastic and college baseball talent in the mid-Hudson area will meet the famous Brooklyn-Against-The-World squad on Thursday, Aug. 31, at municipal stadium.

Dick McCarthy, K.A.A. president, in announcing the opening of the ticket sale, expressed the hope that baseball fans would support the game as they did during the first two years.

Our first two games attracted more than 2,000 fans each time, McCarthy said, "and we're hopeful that many turn out on Aug. 31. The K.A.A. is conducting its usual excellent program at four local parks for the fourth straight year and this game is our chief source of funds to insure success of the 1951 program."

Stars to Be Invited

No definite lineup has been announced but invitations will be extended to several members of the 1950 Kingston High School nine and local collegians who are spending a summer vacation in this area.

Big Sal Misasi, the Glasco pitching sensation, will be invited along with the Scheffel brothers—Ronnie and Bud—Mike Rlenzo, Joe Shattan, Big Boy Ghean, Rod Whitaker and several others.

An effort will be made to bring in Big John Bowman, ace Newburgh Academy pitcher, and two or three standout players on Pittsford's sensational Afton High School nine.

Bernard A. "Bud" Culliton, who has served as K.A.A. Junior coach since the inception of the series, is expected to serve in the same capacity this year.

$11,000 Tam Prize Goes to Ransom

Chicago, Aug. 13 (AP)—"Daddy" Henry Ransom never had it so good before.

He made $11,000 yesterday in polishing off Detroit's Chick Harbert by three strokes, 69-72, in a playoff for the "Tam O'Shanter" world pro golf championship.

Ransom's first prize was a treasure chest unmatched in golf history. Harbert's score was 35,000. The difference of $6,000 was decided in a four-hour match followed by 10,000 averted spectators.

Now and then in this unworldly crowd, which got in free and saw some of the most sensational golf in years, a glimpse could be had of Mrs. Ransom. She was with her 20-month-old son, Henry, Jr., and nine-year-old daughter, Marsha.

They wanted to see what "Daddy" was doing the same as the rest. "Well, 'Daddy' caught fire."

When the playoff was all over and Ransom clutched his check in nervous fingers, his wife and the little Ransoms got into the act.

Hank, Jr., was placed in the prodigious "world" championship trophy cup which was big enough to swallow him up.

Mrs. Ransom and the daughter beamed delightedly. "Daddy" Ransom planted a kiss on the $11,000 check.

Charles Stays 1-5 Against Beshore

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—Ring-rusty but confident Ezzard Charles returns to action tonight, an almost prohibitive favorite to blast longshot Freddie Beshore out of his path to a lucrative crack at Joe Louis.

Sharp-shooting Ezzard is rated at least 1 to 5 to belt the day lights out of Beshore and hold on to his N.B.A. heavyweight championship. The 15-round title fight starts at 9 p. m. E.S.T. in Memorial Auditorium.

Sidelined by a rib and heart injury for almost six months, the 28-year-old champion aims to renew his ring campaign in a different role.

The prospects of a one-sided battle plus two post-natal problems caused by Charles' injury has hurt the ticket sale. Promoter Dewey Michaels is looking for a crowd of around 10,000 and a gate of "over $50,000."

The show will not be televised nor broadcast.

Charles is to receive 40 per cent of the net gate while Beshore will collect 17 1/2.

Bagatelles:

After watching a dehydrated Kingston Colonial team rout the New York Firemen with ease. And then looking on as the City League All Stars copped a 13-12 squeaker over the Paterson Silk Sox-Colonials, we came to the sad conclusion that semi-pro baseball as it is played today is nothing more than glorified town ball. If anybody in his right mind can try to compare Class B ball with the semi-pros then they had better visit a psychiatrist.

Fred Davi, the corpulent ex-baseball promoter, is expected to join the House of David in a few days. Probably as business manager. Davi took the pledge a while back—no shaving until the Yankees get back into first place—and at this writing it appears he has several years to wait. Unless his wife, Margaret, moved in and halted the nonsense.

Date of the K.A.A. Juniors vs. Brooklyn-Against-The-World has been changed to Thursday, August 31, at municipal stadium.

A New York newspaper is running a contest asking readers what they would do if they were manager of the Dodgers. First thing they'd do is ask for a three-year contract.

Bud Culliton and Ted Frelich will be the starting pitchers for the "Old Timers" game Sunday in Saugerties. Judging from talk around town, the contest will attract a tremendous crowd.

Joelin' Joe DiMaggio's horrendous batting slump would seem to indicate that good health doesn't seem to agree with him.

Dick Dulin, an All Star battery mate for Jimmy Volker for several seasons, is coming in from Connecticut to play in the "Old Timers" game in Saugerties. John "Mac" McCordle who managed the All Stars will be up from Long Island.

For Baseball Nuts:

In winning the 1949 National League batting title, Jackie Robinson played in 156 games and hit safely in 121. He compiled a .431 average during the month of May. Stan Musial hit safely in 121 of 151 when he copped the crown in 1948 and had a .412 average for the month of June. In 1931 Chick Hafey of the Cardinals won the National League batting title with an average of .3489, over Bill Terry's .3486 and Jim Bottomley's .3482.

Wasn't that a terrific show that John "Daisy" Schatzel put on Saturday night at municipal stadium.

"Ping" Beaumont, the N.B.T. king of the Shamshakken club, says that 1951 Mountain League is virtually assured. A formal organization meeting and election of officers will be held in the near future.

Do you think that newcomers in the Texas League, Pitcher Ed Roebuck, will have to get his signs via mail order?

National League games started in daylight may be completed under lights if, in the opinion of the umpire, artificial light is necessary to finish the game. The umpire shall have full authority to order the lights turned on.

Nice Job, Wes:

The road to major league success has not been a path of roses for Wes Westrum, wartime Recreation catcher. This in spite of a sensational minor league record.

Wes has been bouncing around ever since he started with Minneapolis in 1940. It was with the Millers seven years later that he started to bust the ball and, after hitting .304 that season, moved to the Giants in 1948. Wes hit only .160 for 66 games with the Polo Grounders, however, and was optioned to Jersey City for 1949. He batted .308 in 51 games for the Little Giants and was recalled in mid-season, but he did not come into his own until Leo Durocher disposed of Ray Mueller and put the responsibility of doing the Giants' catching up to Westrum. He has been a solid performer ever since.

Williams Lake Plans Annual Legion And Kiwanis Trophy Races Sunday

County Swim Titles Will Be at Stake

The Williams Lake Athletic Club will stage its annual swimfest and trophy meet on Sunday, Aug. 20.

Feature of the meet will be the 15th annual American Legion Trophy race for the Ulster county championship for men at 100 yards freestyle and the 10th annual Kiwanis Trophy race, a 50-yard freestyle for women for the county title.

The program also includes open races and a diving and clown show.

On Aug. 27, the club will run the Men's Senior National Long Distance A.A.U. championships. This is a four mile race and already entries have been received from Indianapolis, Alabama, the University of Michigan and Canada.

Koeppke Holds Lead

With one week remaining in the second half of the Williams Lake swimming contest, Karl Koeppke and Gloria Lumscher are leading their respective divisions.

Koeppke, winner of the boys division in the first half, is far ahead with 68 points for the second round. Joseph Gurlock and Edward Williams are runnersup with 37 points each.

Gloria Lumscher has a close lead with 80 points in the girls division. The next competitor is Dolores Garlick who has 73 points. Margaret Osterhout, who started the season as a non-swimmer, is in third position with 35 points.

Winners of the second half in their division will receive gold, silver, and bronze medals. Trophies will be awarded next Sunday to the boy and the girl who have earned the most points during the entire summer. A trophy will also be awarded the boy or girl who started as a non-swimmer and who swims the best by the close of the contest.

Hole-in-One Layout Features 135-Yard Hole

The iron or wood that can carry you 135 yards on a drop-shot is what you'll need for the specially constructed hole at Wiltwyck Golf Club in the Free-man's second annual hole-in-one tournament next Sunday.

Measurements yesterday, revealed the yardage at exactly 135 yards with the pin planted squarely in the middle of the No. 9 green.

The tee for the shot is on the ridge between the No. 9 and No. 3 fairways and is approximately the same distance as the hole used last year at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

This year's layout calls for an almost straightaway shot, except that a slight fade or slice might catch a small round on the lower right hand side of the green and preclude the possibility of lucky rolls onto the carpet.

Entries Near 200

Entries yesterday passed the 150 mark and it is expected that at least 200 persons will compete in this year's feature.

A special "acers" squad is scheduled at 11 a. m. All golfers who have an ace to their credit, have received special invitations for this event.

Entries close at midnight Thursday and telephone entries be accepted up to 12 noon on Saturday.

SCORE FOR THE PIRATES

Bob Dillinger, Pittsburgh Pirates third baseman, plows into home plate safely from third on a fly ball hit to the outfield by Pirate right fielder Gus Bell in first inning of game with Cincinnati Reds in Pittsburgh. Catcher Dixie Howell of the Reds makes the tag too late. The umpire is Lon Warneke. Watching the play is Wally Westlake (15), Pirate center fielder. The Reds won, 13-8 (AP Wirephoto)

Major League Roundup

Early "Ynns" contribution to the Cleveland Indians' pennant drive is even greater than his record indicates.

The 30-year-old rightlander has turned in 13 victories but seven of them have been over the other first division teams—Detroit, New York and Boston.

Only Bob Lemon, ace right-hander, has a better record on the Cleveland team.

Lemon, who goes after his 19th victory today in the final of a two-game series against the pace-setting Tigers, has scored eight of his triumphs against first division teams. Five of Lemon's conquests have been over the fourth-place Boston Red Sox. Wynn has been on the Sox only once but holds three triumphs over Detroit and New York.

60,120 See Game

Wynn's considerably brightened the Indians' pennant outlook last night as he turned back the Tigers, 3-2, in a ten-inning thriller before 60,120 fans in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. The triumph moved the runner-up Tribe to within 2 1/2 games of the Bengals.

The game was one of the most dramatic of the season. The Indians scored a run in the second inning and Wynn nursed this slender margin until the ninth.

In the ninth, with one out, Hoot Evers beat out a slow bouncer over the mound for a single. Johnny Groth followed with a home run into the lower left field stands and a deep cleanup settled throughout the stands.

La Motta Defends Title Against Dauthuille

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Jake LaMotta will defend his middle-weight crown next month in his favorite boxing town—Detroit.

The champ signed yesterday to meet France's Laurent Dauthuille in Olympia Stadium, Sept. 13.

LaMotta is superstitious about fighting in Detroit. He thinks it's his lucky city. It was there he won the title from Marcel Cerdan, and earlier, defeated "Sugar" Ray Robinson, the welter champ.

Dauthuille whipped LaMotta in a 10-round bout at Montclair, Feb. 21, 1948. LaMotta will receive 45 per cent of the gate and Dauthuille 15.

Licenses Are Revoked
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—The licenses of two private detectives and their Brooklyn agency have been revoked by the state on the ground that they defrauded a Brooklyn woman of $24,000. Current secretary of State Thomas J. Curran said yesterday the detectives had been found guilty after a hearing of "vicious and fraudulent conduct." The detectives were identified as Daniel G. Keefe of (2348 Brookhaven avenue) Far Rockaway and Roy Slomow of (308 Alabama avenue) Brooklyn. The agency was listed as the Eastern Investigating Bureau, Inc.

Was His Helmet
With U. S. First Cavalry Division in Korea, Aug. 15 (AP)—Cpl. James Moore of Pleasant City, Ohio, couldn't find his helmet when ordered into battle last night against the North Korean Reds. He grabbed another. His head-gripping liner didn't fit well. After a night of bitter fighting, Moore looked around for a replacement. He found one—but the helmet had holes in the front and back where a bullet had killed the G.I. wearing it. Moore looked inside. The name read "Corporal James Moore." It was his.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Beware of George When Bearing Gifts

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"That's just the first gift," said Generous George. "If you're good boys I'll give you a few more."

"Don't do us any favors," the opponents shouted in unison. George was not a bit abashed by this display of ingratitude. As a matter of fact, he did give them another gift just a couple of tricks later.

West opened the king of clubs, and George made his little pronouncement as he allowed West to hold the opening lead. West continued with a low club (his partner had signalled enthusiastically with the jack) and George won with the ace. He entered dummy with a trump to ruff a club and spades from his own hand, allowing West to take the trick. West properly exited safely with a spade, dummy ruffing.

At this point the stage was set for the diamond play. George led a low diamond from the dummy and finessed the queen from his own hand.

West was able to win with the king but could not then make a safe return. If he returned a diamond it would give declarer a free finesse. If he returned a spade, George would ruff while dummy discarded the only remaining loser.

George's reason for giving away the first trick was that he dared not let East win a club trick. East would gladly return a diamond, which would kill the eventual end play.

When George eventually led the king of spades, his reason was similar. He had to make sure that only West could win this trick, since if East were able to gain the lead, he could still return a diamond and spoil George's party.

Incidentally, North's bidding deserves a word or two of praise. His hand was not good enough for a free raise after West had over-called with one spade. However, when South showed a strong hand with his reopening double, North could afford to indicate that his hand was far from hopeless despite the fact that he had passed on the first round.

If North had bid merely two hearts, he would have shown a hand of pronounced weakness. By jumping to three hearts, he showed a hand that had almost been with a free raise on the first round of bidding.

Hurricane Is Watched
Miami, Fla., Aug. 15 (AP)—The season's first tropical hurricane churned northwestward in the Atlantic today, packing winds of 90 to 95 miles per hour near its center. Chief Storm Forecaster Grady Norton said the hurricane was still too far out and too small to concern any coastal area.

spades from his own hand, allowing West to take the trick. West properly exited safely with a spade, dummy ruffing.

FLAG OF IDAHO

Right Is Upheld

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Second U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the government's right to give Pan American World Airways permits

"WILL YOU TAKE 5 MINUTES TO SAVE $1000.?"

Yes, 5 minutes is all we need to show you how you could pay $1,000 more and not get all the extra room... ease of handling... and famous ruggedness the new Dodge gives you!

NOW IS THE TIME TO TRADE

— your present car may never again be worth what we will give you!

Just 5 minutes behind the wheel of today's big Dodge tells you more about downright value than all the talk in the world!

Yes, 5 minutes is all you need to discover roominess that far costlier cars can't match... head room, leg room, shoulder room. You ride easier, more comfortably, mile after mile.

In just 5 minutes, you'll get a taste of handling and driving ease that you'll want to make your own for keeps.

You'll feel the flashing power of the big "Get-Away" Engine... the sicken smoothness of Fluid Drive... the famous dependability, that belongs to Dodge and Dodge alone.

County Fair . . .

by the Music Performance Trust Fund in cooperation with the Agricultural Society.

There will be approximately 25 commercial exhibitors. According to Albert Kus, secretary of the Agricultural Society, the space to be allotted to commercial exhibitors is "greater than ever before."

Educational exhibits will also occupy more space than in previous fairs, Kus said.

Two new tents have been acquired and erected, making a total tentage area greater than before.

The usual features of the fair promise to equal or surpass other years. There will be the livestock, fruit and vegetable judging, Orange exhibits, homemaker exhibits, 4-H Club events, including the popular dress review, and educational exhibits.

One unique demonstration will be the actual typing of blood by the Ulster County Health Department at their booth on the grounds.

A sample of the National Boy Scout Jamboree held this summer at Valley Forge, Pa., will be provided by the local scout council. The Rip Van Winkle gateway, the same as used at the jamboree, will be erected on the fairgrounds and a contingent of Boy Scouts will pitch tents there. Ladies of the St. James Methodist Church will have a food booth on the grounds.

King of Egypt Is Due In Marseille Today

Denuville, France, Aug. 15 (AP)—Egypt's King Farouk was expected to arrive today in Marseille, on route to this English Channel resort.

The Egyptian king reportedly was coming here "incognito" for a Franco-Egyptian celebration Aug. 20. He was expected in Marseille today aboard the royal yacht and was to travel here by automobile immediately on arrival.

The celebration is being sponsored by French artists to express their appreciation for the welcome Egypt has given them in the past.

Painting Is Being Done

Work was in progress today in preparation for the redecoration and renovation of police headquarters in the city hall. A booth housing the sergeant's desk and radio equipment was being torn out this morning. It was installed about 12 years ago when it was thought it would be necessary to keep outside noises away from the radio units. The painting is being done by Leo Yonetti, of Bloomington.

Onion Festival Held In Orange County

Florida, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—The onion was king today in this black dirt area of western Orange county.

A motored and an outdoor pageant launched the third Orange County Onion Harvest Festival.

Li. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, who has announced as Republican gubernatorial candidate, was to deliver an address later in the day.

Riding at the head of the motored parade, starting from Pine Island and winding to the pageant site on the Florida-Goshen road, will be the onion queen of 1950, Miss Marion Bleustine of Pine Island.

Miss Bleustine, a 17-year-old brunette, was chosen queen from 65 girls and women, all of them farm workers in the onion-producing region.

The pageant, based on the traditional harvest-time festivities of Poland, featured Polish songs and folk dances by a cast of 200 young people dressed in Polish peasant costumes.

The Onion Harvest Festival was held first in 1939 and 1940, but had not been observed since until this year.

The State Department of Agriculture says Orange county leads all other counties in the nation in onion production. Last year 5,000 acres in the county produced 3,000,000 sacks of onions, nearly half of the statewide total of 8,205,000. Total onion acreage in the state was 15,000.

HOW THE BIG BAZOOKA BUSTS A TANK—

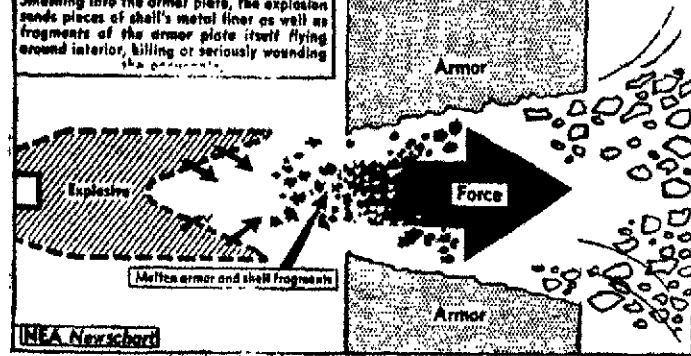

American bazookas, howitzers, tank and anti-tank guns now in use in Korea have received a new, highly effective "Sunday punch," in the form of specially designed shells employing a "shaped charge." Military spokesmen have stated that weapons employing these shells will be able to stand up against any known tank operating today. The diagrams below illustrate just how the normal explosive effect of the shells is increased four to five times by use of the new charge.

Top sketch shows shell; below is "phantom" view of war head. Shaped charge explodes in all directions. At front of cavity, explosive force comes from both sides and meets in the middle. The pressure is focused to five times that of an explosive of the normal size. This new force seeks point of least resistance, which is every from the rocket and towards tank.

How cavity increases normal explosive force.

How shell uses fragments of tank armor as "bullets."

Red Troops . . .

Combined allied forces moved to within half a mile of Pohang, second most important port on the east coast until the Communists overran it last week.

But the hardest fighting Tuesday night was centered below Changnyong. There 12,000 Reds were trying to break out from a narrow bridgehead, bought at a heavy cost in lives. A breakthrough there would imperil the Taegu-Pusan supply line to the east.

Americans held their ground in the center and northern end of the battle for the Changnyong ridge. They concentrated on retaking the southern end.

AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth reported one U. S. battalion fell back six or seven miles in the day-long fighting Tuesday.

The correspondent quoted a staff officer as saying reverses on the ridge were not major setbacks.

JETS AND BOMBERS

E. Hill, 28, Stillwater, Okla., led a flight of F-80s against the rail yard north of Waegwan.

"We found 11 box cars in the yard which we hit with rockets and our machineguns," Hill said. "Two of them we blew up and we damaged the rest." He reported light flak was encountered.

Another flight leader, Lt. Orin M. Muttig, 27, El Paso, Tex., strafed several warehouses and ammunition dumps.

The B-26 invaders blasted bridges near Yongju and Chongju and Red troop concentrations in the Nakdong river area northwest of Seoul.

A navigator was injured when struck by shrapnel from a bomb dropped by his B-26.

Earlier, the Far East bomber command reported that the B-29s in the past month had blasted North Korean targets with 23,000 bombs, 7,000 tons. Damage from the 7,000 tons of high explosives ranged from 30 per cent to virtually complete destruction.

Support of allied ground troops continued a major task of allied airmen. More than 400 sorties were flown Monday, including 200 in direct support of the foot soldiers.

Included in the day's bag were eight enemy tanks destroyed.

Fruit Growers See Sprayers in Action Near New Paltz

Crowds of fruit growers from various parts of New York state assembled at a farm near New Paltz yesterday for demonstrations of spray equipment arranged by the New York State Horticultural Society. The machine above builds up a wind force of 160 miles an hour to produce the spray, and is known as the air blast type. Some of the machines look like Howitzers and others sounded like jet planes. Gas Price War Flares Again in New Jersey

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 15 (AP)—The gasoline price war flared up again today in scattered sections of New Jersey.

The price per gallon—regularly at 24.9 cents for standard brands—tumbled back to 20.9 in parts of Bergen, Mercer and Camden counties.

Dealers said the reductions were necessary again "to meet the competition."

The 20.9 price was the same as during the height of the price war which engulfed most of the state last week.

A truck settlement after a three-day shutdown of gasoline stations brought prices back to normal levels in most sections last week.

But those in the Camden county area continued selling gasoline at the price war level. Yesterday it spread northward into Mercer county and this morning it broke out again in Bergen.

Other counties, however, showed prices still normal this morning, and dealers there said they knew of no reason why they should come down.

Four Are Killed In B-29 Accident

Forth Worth, Tex., Aug. 15 (AP)—Four crewmen were killed when a crippled B-29 bomber crashed in a field near here yesterday afternoon, then burst into flames only 200 feet from a cluster of small frame houses.

Eight crewmen escaped with minor injuries.

The four-engined bomber, from Barksdale air force base, Shreveport, La., apparently was attempting to land at Carswell air force base, two miles south of the crash scene.

Barksdale Field said three of the dead were:

Capt. Bernard J. McKenna, navigator, of Staten Island, N. Y.; First Lt. Michael J. Joyce, navigator, son of Mrs. Catherine Joyce of Arlington, Mass.; First Lt. Armand S. Trepanier, observer, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Trepanier, of Holyoke, Mass.

The name of the fourth victim was withheld until next of kin were notified.

Injured included Sgt. Edward M. Berkheimer, Bronx, N. Y., radio operator, and Staff Sgt. Harold L. Rees, North Pelham, N. Y., engineer.

Witnesses said something appeared wrong with the ship's landing gear and the craft apparently went out of control while the pilot was attempting to land. The plane carried no bombs.

Ulster Fire Course

An intermediate fire course will be staged at Ulster No. 1 House Company house on Wednesday, August 16, at 7:30 p. m. Invitations are extended to Sawkill, Ruby-Mt. Marion, Ulster Hose, and members of the Kingston department. All firemen who have had the basic training courses are also invited to attend.

Preliminary Talks Held on Operations

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—Naval representatives of the United States, United Kingdom and Canada have held preliminary talks on standardizing naval operations, and the discussions are to continue.

The Department of Defense, announcing this today, said the talks are part of an over-all plan "for collaboration in the broader military standardization program among all the armed forces" of the U. S., U. K. and Canada.

The aim is to work out a "gradual development of common designs and standards in arms, equipment and training methods," as well as tactics and operations, including amphibious landings.

Your Taxes, Who Pays And Where Money Goes

Here's how your tax bills have increased in the past 20 years:

	1929-30	1939-40	1949-50
Federal	$98,955,000	$1,053,314,000	$7,155,938,000
State	341,289,000	447,867,000	885,787,000
Local	798,433,000	903,295,000	1,215,156,000

Totals

Note: The federal fiscal year ends June 30 and the state's March 31. The fiscal years of local governments vary considerably and the figures used above are based in part on the preceding year.)

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—More than nine billion dollars in taxes were collected in New York state in the past year.

Who got the money? Your federal government in Washington, your state government in Albany and your local county, city, town and village governments at home.

Who paid the nine billion dollars? Practically everybody.

Most of it came from three sources. They were personal income taxes—on the money you earn; business taxes, and taxes on real estate.

But those aren't the only sources. Who else pays taxes? Everybody who drives a car, drinks, smokes, dances, nets on the horses, goes to the theatre, or attends a sporting event.

Everybody who travels by airplane, train or bus.

Everybody who buys furs, jewelry, cosmetics, luggage, or baby powder.

Everybody who has a telephone or sends a telegram.

Everybody who sells a share of stock or rents a safety deposit box.

Practically everybody who works—that social security deduction in your paycheck is a tax. So are contributions to the railroad employees retirement system.

There is no tax on being born. But if you have enough of this world's goods there's a tax on your death—the estate or inheritance tax.

In addition to the major taxes and the obvious excise taxes on such things as cigarettes, gasoline and amusement tickets, everybody is hit by "hidden taxes."

Among them are taxes passed on to the consumer in the price he pays for things, ranging from crewing gun and candy to a loaf of bread. It's said that at least 150 taxes are involved in making and selling a loaf of bread.

The income tax, the business tax and the real estate tax are, of course, more noticeable.

They tend to support one dictionary definition of taxes: "A forced contribution of wealth to meet the public needs of a government."

Taxes are your contribution to the cost of government.

The $2,256,882,000 collected in New York equaled a payment of $629 by every man, woman and child of the state's 3,600,000 population.

Local governmental units raked in $1,215,156,000.

That means the equipment payment for every man, woman and child in the state was $486 in federal taxes, $61 in state taxes and $82 in local taxes.

In paying $9,256,882,000 in taxes in the just fiscal year, New Yorkers paid 285 per cent more than they did in 1940—$2,406,476,000.

Since 1940, federal tax collections have jumped 579 per cent in the state, state taxes 98 per cent and local taxes 34 per cent.

There are approximately 34,000 competitive oil companies scattered throughout the United States.

Packard Strike Ends Auto Industry Peace

Detroit, Aug. 15 (AP)—A strike at Packard today put a sudden end to three months of labor peace in the automobile industry.

The C.I.O. United Auto Workers, in what company management promptly referred to as a "pressure move," called a walkout of Packard's 8,000 employees last night.

The strike came as Packard was getting up headway in production of its new 1951 car model.

It was the first strike of consequence in the industry since Chrysler and the U.A.W. came to terms to conclude a 100-day strike last spring.

In comparison, however, the Packard strike was much less severe as regards over-all effects. The Chrysler walkout directly or indirectly idled 150,000 men, including Chrysler's own 85,000.

Packard and the U.A.W. had been in a contract dispute over issues of pensions, insurance, and a cost-of-living pay increase.

Brooklynite Fined
James Francis Crockett, 30, of 267 Wierslow street, Brooklyn, was fined $125 Monday on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving.

Justice of the Peace Joseph Deyo of Gardiner imposed the fine after a hearing during which witnesses testified that Crockett's automobile sideswiped another automobile on the road between Gardiner and Ireland Corners.

The arrest was made Monday morning by state police of the Highland sub-station.

Think He's Wrong On Taft and Lucas

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—The politicians most affected took with a grain of salt today a prediction by Louis H. Bean that Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Lucas (D-Ill.) will go down to defeat in the November election.

Bean, a Department of Agriculture economist who has attracted attention by his political predictions in the past, forecast in a Look Magazine article that Republicans will gain in this year's voting but won't win control of Congress.

But politicians generally discounted many of Bean's findings—based primarily on past election trends—because they were made without reference to political effects of the Korean fighting.

Besides Taft and Lucas, Bean forecast the defeat of Democratic Senators McMahon and Benton of Connecticut, Myers of Pennsylvania and McCarran of Nevada.

He said Republicans had a 50-50 chance to beat Senator Taylor (D-Ill.), who apparently already has been beaten in the Democratic primary.

Bean listed Republican Senators Donnell (Missouri) and Millikin of Colorado as likely to join Taft in defeat.

Wind Halts Swim
